The humble beginnings of JHM Hotels can be traced back to four decades. Mr. Hasmukh (H. P.) Rama left India to pursue Master of Business Administration in U.S.A. in the year 1969. His professional career commenced as a dishwasher in Howard Johnson Motel and soon got promoted to become a waiter. In a span of four years in 1973, he purchased his first property: the 37-room Sunset Motel in Ponoma, California.

His brothers soon joined him to create a family business that has since then grown to be among the top 50 Hotel Management companies in the U.S. Over the last 37 years, the Rama family has built and acquired 79 hotels, which operate under top-performing franchise flags such as Hilton, Hyatt, Marriott, and Starwood.

JHM is driven to be a premier lodging company that promotes open communication, strong values and the attainment of Siddhi: Perfection. With complete dedication and commitment, the Rama family is proud to develop AURO University as a premier educational institution for future generations.
On behalf of our faculty members and the Management Team, it is a pleasure to welcome you to AURO University.

Mr. H P Rama
President
AURO University
AURO University is a very special place. The university is grounded in values and opens to the world.

It is dedicated to the full or integral development of students and indeed of the whole community. Integral development means, of course, the development of the physical, mental, emotional and spiritual aspects of a person’s being.

At the recently concluded World Economic Forum in the Davos, Switzerland, which is a preeminent gathering spot of world leaders, it was stated that in five years or a third of the skills that are deemed important in the workforce will change. Among the top 10 skills that will be required is creativity, people management, coordinating with others, emotional intelligence, and a service orientation. None of these skills is effectively taught in universities. To address these issues, drawing upon the deep storehouse of wisdom that has long existed in India, we have drawn up a course which is unique to AURO University called “Science of Living”. Here we share with students, concepts, knowledge and experiential practices that will help them unfold their full potential.

Another unique course “Foundations of Indian Culture” is designed to help produce individuals who are confident of their Indian identity and yet prepared to engage with the world. To teach these courses we have some of finest people in the country – academics, theatre people, and leaders coming together to create a learning environment like no other.

AURO University has also started assembling a first rate globally oriented, academic leadership team to take it to the front rank of universities. It is addressing every key aspect of university functioning including curriculum design, faculty development and recruitment and research.

Our infrastructure is world class. Our working, hostel and sports facilities are being developed to provide an environment suitable for inquiry and contemplation of the highest caliber. Here you will find tree lined pathways, the fragrance of flowers and stars at night.

It is the perfect place to develop your potential.

We welcome you to join AURO!

Dr. Shailendra Mehta
Chairman
Board of Management
